Agrodaka (Agacha)/Agroha Janapada, Punjab-Haryana Region (150-100 BC).

The Kingdom of Agreya, as mentioned in a couplet from Mahabharata, also known as Agrodaka, mentioned in the Buddhist text – Mahamayuri, was established by King Agra Sen around 5000 years ago near the present day town of Agroha, which lies around 23 kms from Hisar. It is said in literary sources that Maharaja Agrasen established Agroha around 3rd century BC as a republic, a 'Janapadasa', adopting the principles of social welfare, brotherhood and non-violence.

The term Agodaka which appears on the coins of this Janapada is sometimes identified with Agrodaka (Agra+udaka) which literally means place of foremost (Agra) water (udaka). Another derivation of the word Agodaka has been made keeping the present Agroha form in view. Agroha thus has been derived from Prakrit form Agga-rohaya of its Sanskrit equivalent Agra-rodhaka, meaning the foremost (agra) bank (rodhaka).

James Prinsep, in 1858, is credited to be the first to publish a coin of the Agreya tribe and Allan, the first to make out the Brahmi script 'Agodaka Janapadasa', attributed to the Republic of Agrodaka or Agreya. All Agroha coins are die-struck and have legends only in Brahmi and invariably show tree in railing on the obverse and Seven types of reverse, they are Bull type, Lion type, Composite animal type, Lakshmi type, Chaitya type, Temple type and Chakra type. It is said that the Agarwal and Agrahari communities claim their origin from Agroha. According to their legends, Agroha was the capital of their founder Agrasena.

City State of Kurapurika (200 BC), Purika was a well-known city in the Avanti area during the ancient times around 200 BC. It was situated on the banks of the river Narmada near the city of Mahismati. Kurapurika was a Purika of the ancient times. According to Fleet, Purika was located to the south of the island of Mahismati (Mandhata in the Khandwa district) on the Narmada. The discovery of the coins of another city state of Madhya Pradesh prompted the discovery of the location of Purika as well. They issued both inscribed and uninscribed coins. The inscribed coins bear the Brahmi legend 'Kurapurika'. The boat symbol is quite often seen on the coins of the Kurapurika and also on the coins of Ujjain. Kurapurika civic coins have also been reported from eastern Malwa but the exact location of Kurapurika remains uncertain and trade activities might have brought these coins to the Eran-Vidisha region. Prashant. P. Kulkarni has published a very useful survey of the civic issues from the Narmada valley in ICS-NL 37, pp.3-21 ('New discoveries in coins from Narmada valley: geographical and historical implications'). He reports a large number of coins of Kurara, Bhagila, Mahismati and at least one Kurapurika coin to have been found at Nadner, i.e. ancient Nandinagara. Other Kurapurika coins however came from the Mahismati region on the banks of the Narmada and that is where Kulkarni sees the origin of the Kurapurika series, the ancient site of Purika near Omkareshwar. A decade ago a small hoard surfaced from an unknown river in a village in Rajasthan and the coins offered here are from the same hoard. This (mule?) specimen is struck using the dies from two different ruler of Kashmir Sultanate, Hasan Shah and Fath Shah. The obverse has Kalima Shahada within a circle and date AH 876 is clear in the margin, this date is of the reign of Hasan Shah who was the ruler between AH 876-889, also die identical of the example listed by Goron & Goenka vide reference no K30. The reverse is read as Kibr-i-Mamlakat Kih Muhr-i-Daulat Ast, Sikkah-i-Fath Shah Sultan ain Kashmir Ast, it clearly identifies the ruler name, die identical of the example listed by Goron & Goenka vide reference no K55, Fath Shah's first reign was AH 892-904. It could have been a joint issue or a mint-master's mistake to pair the different dies, since the die is of equal quality at both sides and not worn-out, it is also possible that the die-engravers of Fath Shah didn't care much and imitated the legends from the obverse as it is including the date of Hasan Shah. Such incidents are known from the Kaserahs with the fixed date AH 874. More research on the subject is required. Nevertheless a very important coin of the Kashmir Sultanate! Similar example was sold in our Auction No. 25 for 4Lakh+BP/Taxes.

The issues of the Marathas, struck whilst they were in occupation of Itawa, consists entirely of rupees in the usual Mughal style. The occupation by the Marathas commenced about 1752. The Maratha rupees in the name of Shah Alam II ceased after 1761 when they were driven out from Itawa by the Rohillas. But the Marathas were able to reoccupy the city again and resumed the coins in 1771 (regnal year 12). Their final issue lasted only until 1774 (regnal year 16), when they were finally ejected by the Nawab of Awadh and the Rohillas.

There is nothing distinctive about the various issues of the Rohillas and the Marathas except for the dates and the various symbols that appear on these coins.

NNPA — NNE AWARDS

Numismatics • Notaphily • Philately • Autograph

2019 is a momentous year for us here at Marudhar Arts as 3 generations of The Marus celebrate 53 illustrious years of dedicated service in upholding the rich historical and cultural heritage. This February we reached the milestone of organizing and celebrating our Silver Jubilee Auction. Our journey of the past 25 auctions has been one of great learning, of highs and lows, of excitement and of deep gratitude for us.

This year we also organized the 10th edition of National Numismatics Exhibition, NNE. From its inception, organizing the NNE has been a source of great pride for us at Marudhar Arts and it wouldn't have been possible without the encouragement and enthusiastic participation of the Numismatics and Philately community.

To enshrine this milestone in our history, We decided to institute the Numismatics - Notaphily- Philately - Autographs - National Numismatics Exhibition Awards, the NNPA-NNE Awards, to be held annually this year onwards, to honor those luminaries, eminent collectors and scholars who with their own originality, initiative and innovation have been committed to the cause of spreading the passion and made unparalleled contribution to the field of numismatics, notaphily and philately.

Their endeavours have led to unravelling new history in each subject, adding further credibility and authenticity. The entire fraternity has grown exponentially by their continued support. Exhibitions including NNE wouldn't be a resounding success year on year and reached this milestone without their constant support and encouragement

The NNPA-NNE Awards are presented in 4 categories to span an honest, unbiased selection of deserving and noteworthy hobbyists who have contributed to fields of research, scholarly work and upliftment of trade in the fields of Numismatics, Notaphily, Philately and Autographs.

The Award titles conferred in these fields are that of Maestro, GrandMaster, Doyen and the Lifetime Achievement Award.

The Maestro Award is conferred on the hobbyists whose contribution to research, scholarly work or in uplifting the trade business in these fields in recent years has been noteworthy.

The GrandMaster Award is conferred on the hobbyists who've made prominent contributions to research, undertaken significant scholarly work and been instrumental in establishment of and uplifting the trade business in these fields.

The Doyen Award is conferred on those eminent hobbyists who've passionately devoted themselves to research thereby unravelling new vistas, done groundbreaking and unparalleled scholarly work and have been innovators and leading lights of the trade business.

The Lifetime Achievement Award is presented to illustrious luminaries to honour their lifetime devotion to their passion of Numismatics, Notaphily, Philately and Autographs.

At the 1st NNPA-NNE Awards we had the great privilege of hosting Shri. Alur Seelin Kiran Kumar, Padma Shri, Distinguished Scientist (Apex) and Director, Space Applications Centre, Ahmedabad and Secretary, Department of Space, Chairman, Space Commission and Former Chairman, Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO), as the evening's Chief Guest.

He was instrumental in evolving successful strategies for CARTOSAT, Chandrayaan-1 and Mangalyaan, ISRO's Mars Orbiter Missions
